Hello Team,

You are a great organisation with a dedicated team and you would be wondering why you should hire me for the role of an email developer.

Here's why:

I have working experience and knowledge of HTML, CSS, JavaScript and MJML framework. Okay maybe that's not enough, everybody seems to have that these days.

I HAVE over 3 years of startup experience, so I know what it means to wear many hats, grow a business, sales and marketing, responding to user needs and market research while bootstrapping. Still not enough? Keep reading…

I will add to the diversity on your team and research has shown that diversity often makes for better, more successful teams.

If by now, I have given you a reason to consider my application and I really hope I have, then go through my resume attached.

I hope to hear from you soon.
